Has The UN Failed? The Answer Is Yes!

By JOSEPH C. HARSCH
In Christian Science Monitor

Has the United Nations already become what the League of Nations became—nothing more than an implement of big-power diplomacy?

It would be extremely easy to become entirely cynical about the organization which only three short years ago fired the hopes of the world.

Its record of recent failures to settle threats to the peace is long and disturbing.

This summer the Berlin blockade was taken to the UN. Berlin still is under blockade.

Long before that the UN occupied itself with the problem of Palestine. Palestine still is an unsolved problem although the verdict of the battlefield seems well on the way to doing what the UN could not do.

Only recently the kingdom of the Netherlands came closer to defying the UN outright than anyone had done before, and so far has gotten away with it. Netherlands troops are the factual arbiter of the Indonesian affair.

Those are the principal recent cases where the UN has been invoked as a peacemaking agency and has failed to achieve its purpose.

Used for Power Purposes

Then there is the corollary list of examples of big powers using the UN for their power purposes.

Russia consistently has used the UN as a platform for its propaganda, and quite effectively, particularly in the early stages.

The western powers have tried to turn the tables on Russia in this respect, with increasing success.

The major purpose of the western powers in taking the Berlin blockade to the UN was to rouse and mobilize world opinion generally against Russian pressures and methods. The recent session in Paris was notable for the degree to which the non-Soviet bloc nations did draw more closely together and did come to resist Russian proposals.

So we have one category of cases where the UN has been defied, more or less openly, by Israel, the Arab states, the Netherlands. And we have a second category of cases where the UN has been used for purposes other than the promotion of the influence of the UN as an independent peacemaking force in the world.

UN Following Path of League

The old League of Nations went down for many reasons, but students of that organization generally agree that a major reason was because the League progressed not toward the ultimate form of a world government but rather more and more toward becoming merely an agency of France and Britain.

This poses a question. Is the same thing happening to the UN, and if so, what can be done to halt or reverse the trend?

Pretty serious attention is being given to the problems in higher quarters these days. The American delegation at Paris was not unanimous on the matter of taking Berlin blockade to the UN. A minority strongly opposed on the ground that the action would damage the UN. Similar sentiment was even stronger in the British and French delegations. The result continues the argument over whether it was a wise move. The western cause has been promoted. but it is to be strongly doubted that the UN has been promoted. And the settlement of the blockade was not achieved.

So the argument can be posed that what the western coalition gained was gained at the expense of the UN.

Weaknesses Bared

What is the UN doing these days, then? It is not capable of settling the major problem in western-Russian relations—Berlin. That can be settled only when the big powers themselves can agree to settle it. The UN merely provides both sides with a forum for presenting their respective cases.

It also is not even strong enough to settle the Palestine war or prevent the Netherlands from resorting, arbitrarily, to "police action" aiainst the Indonesian Republic.

One high-ranking American official has stated that in all of these cases the UN has been attempting something it never should have attempted. As he phrased it, the UN

RAINFALL IN 1948 WAS LOWER THAN 1925 FALL

Speaking of dry years, the record is always illuminating.

L. W. Smith of the Community Public Service Company, local observer for the government, has given The Herald a record of 18 years of rainfall in Cameron.

It is shown that 1948 had less rain than 1925 whereas most people who have commented felt that 1925 was the worst year we have ever had here.

The fact is that 1917 seems to be the lowest the record shows. In that year we had only 20.69 inches. In 1925 we had 25.05 and in 1948 only 22.61.

The year 1944 was the wettest with 47.15 inches of rain and 1946 was next with 46.36 inches.

Here is the 18 year record:

1931	26.25
1932	44.17
1933	26.63
1934	35.88
1935	39.36
1936	37.22
1937	29.82
1938	27.93
1939	27.04
1940	44.59
1941	37.01
1942	32.89
1943	28.13
1944	47.15
1945	42.75

POLIO FUNDS ARE NEEDED

TEXAS LEGISLATURE IS UNDER WAY

JESTER ALERTS SOLONS

LOCAL FACILITIES FOR TREATMENT NECESSARY

Funds for treatment of Infantile Paralysis are so badly needed here that 1949 campaign leaders for the March of Dimes were laying plans for an emergency appeal to the people.

Roger Maddox, new permanent chairman for the Foundation and L. W. Smith, director of the fund raising campaign for 1949, were confering to-day on how to raise money. They have advanced a number of plans that should bring in the usual amounts but the need now goes beyond anything that has occured in the past.

They point out that Cameron and the county generally may have to set up local facilities for taking care of polio cases since the Crippled Childrens Hospital in Waco may not be able to care for anymore cases from this county because of overcrowded conditions.

As a further emphasis on the failure here to meet needs adaquately it is pointed out that Milam County is about fourth from the bottom in Texas counties in its subscriptions to the Infantile Paralysis Foundation Fund.

There was little doubt that an appeal would have to be made for subscriptions; that the march of dimes through the meagre channels here would not be sufficient to take care of the needs which have faced the authorities in the past. The cases of polio in 1948 were cited, 18 of them and there were 3 deaths.

The current Polio Fund drive must take predecence over all over claims to the local purse and a thorough campaign is being mapped here.

PRESIDENT TRUMAN IS FRIENDLY TO TEXAS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10 — The Leon river dam was allotted $2,000,000, the largest sum yet provided for the plroject, in the President's budget today.

Rep. W. R. Poage, Waco, who previously had urged budget bureau officials to provide adequately for a continuation of construction of the dam, conferred with army engineers today about the manner in which the money will be spent.

The money will be used to build an earth fill on the extremities of the dam and to purchase part of the land for the dam site. Not all the land required will be purchased now, for to do so, Poage explained, would take it out of production for a considerable time. It is deemed more economical in the long run by the government to purchase as progress on the dam requires more land. Now, only that land where the actual work during 1950 fiscal year will be done will be acquired.

The $2,000,000 allotment is in keeping with the general trend of budget planners—to keep on with projects that are under construction but to go easy on any new projects.

Thus the Leon dam did not suffer as some of the other projects for which money was sought.

Total cost of the Leon Project, as estimated by the army engineers, has climbed to $31,000,000. It was originally $15,500,000.

Other Texas projects under construction obtained funds as follows: Benbrook $4,000,000; Whitney dam, $14,000,000; Lavon dam, $3,500,000; Garza-Little Elm, $300,000.

The mother is the former Eloise Tindall. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. John Tindall and Mr. and Mrs. N. M. Elliott both of Cameron.

SENATOR VICK GETS IMPORTANT POSITION

AUSTIN, Jan. 11—The 51th general session of the Legislature convened at noon today, named its key leaders, and got busy on a rocky mountain of work.

The House elected as Speaker Rep. Durwood Manford of Smiley—31-year-old businessman, lawyer and rancher—after a last-ditch fight by Rep. Joe Kilgore of McAllen.

The Senate in something of an upset named Senator Kyle Vick, Waco lawyer and veteran Legislator, as its president pro tem. This also involved Senators Rogers Kelley of Edinburg, Grover Morris of Greenville and Grady Hazlewood of Amarillo.

Numerous important committee assignments went to Senator Vick, and to Senators Crawford Martin, of Hillsboro, W. A. Shofner of Temple and James Taylor of Kerens.

Gov. Beauford Jester is to speak in the House of Representatives to a joint session of the 51st Legislature at 11 a. m. Wednesday.

The Senate got the jump on the House in starting.

It completed its preliminary organization in an action-packed 28 minutes after Lieut. Gov. Allan Shivers banged his gavel while the clock was showing 12:02. p. m.

Secretary of State Paul Brown started the House rolling at 12 noon by the House clock. The Senate and Honse usually have a hard time agreeing on anything, and even their clocks apparently were not synchronized today—the fact is, the Senate actually began its proceedings first.

It also passed the session's first bill.

This was Senate Bill 1, by Jim Taylor or Kerens, serving his second term as chairman of the all-important Finance Committee. It would appropriate $350,000 for legislative expenses.

The Senate set aside its rules to whip the bill through and send it along to the House.

Then it stood at ease while the House for the first time in 14 years settled a speakership race on the floor the first day of a session. Usually this matter is ironed out by compromise in advance.

There was no compromise between Manford and Kilgore until the vote tabulation showed definitely Manford had it in the bag. Then Kilgore moved to make it unanimous and the House agreed. When the counting stopped, Manford was ahead 73 to 20.

NEW LEGLISLATURE TO TAP A FULL PURSE

AUSTIN, Jan. 6—State Comptroller George H. Sheppard Thursday officially estimated that a total of approximately $318,000,000 will be available for expenditure by the Fifty-First Legislature, which convenes next Tuesday.

He forecast a general fund balance of $100,219,946 at the end of the current fiscal year on August 31, 1949, representing a "surplus" left over from the current biennium's expenditures.

In addition, he calculated that receipts to the general fund during the 1949-1950 year will be $108,895,050. This estimated income, together with the expected surplus in the general fund, represents the total amount available for expenditure by the coming session.

The legislature cannot spend beyond the comptroller's estimate of income available without voting the state into deficit financing.

Sheppard's estimate for a $100,000,000 surplus is an upward revision of approximately $4,000,000 from his previous forecast of $96,000,000 announced last July.

HINTS STATE NEEDS MANY IMPROVEMENTS

Governor Beauford Jester told the members of the Legislatureat noon Wednesday that they should adjust themselves to 1950 conditions and hinted broadly that the state needs many things to go along with the modern trend.

The governor gave no indication that he would ask for higher taxes but added that he would touch on that later. Recently the governor expressed his disappointment over the amount of the surplus reported by the Comptroller.

He asked for priorities on a nine million dollar appropriation for the Texas school fund, Prison reform that calls for some 4 million dollars. He came out strong for first consideration for 20 millions for farm to market roads as the state's share in a new building program.

The governor called for improvements and special consideration for institutions of the state and schools and touched on the tidelands issue.

NEW DESIGNATION IS SOUGHT PRECINCT 2

Road demands were growing in Milam county.

Add to this a neasement on Highway 36 through North Camp Hood plus the designation for construction on Highway 77 if and when the Commissioners Court gets the right of way and you have a picture of coming events.

The 14 mile farm to market road from San Gabriel to Add Hall has already been approved by the Highway Commission.

A new designation will be asked of the Court at its next meeting here A petition is being circulated asking for a road from Highway 190 from near Belmena north to the Black bridge over the Brazos by way of Cross Roads.

Highways 36 and 77 through Milam county are in poor condition. As yet there have been no allocations or plans for 36 through Milam county. If the highway is built to close the gap through Camp Hood the highway will be good from Milam county line to Gatesville but nothing through Milam.

The people are gradually waking up to the need for rural roads in this county. The coming session of the Legislature is expected to appropriate 20 million dollars to supplement federal money for farm to market roads.

Highway 36 is a state highway and can be built out of state funds.

LIBERAL MESSAGE IS APPROVED BY CONGRESS

(From the Daily)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5—President Truman called on the Democratic 81st Congress Wednesday for a "fair deal" program—a vast extension of social and economic legislation in the direction pointed by the Roosevelt New Deal. To help finance it, he urged a $4,000,000,000 increase in taxes, aimed chiefly at corporations. Further ing boosts in taxes would result if the whole Truman program were enacted.

It provides, among other things, for bigger social security benefits; prepaid medical and health insurance; 1,000,000 new public housing units in seven years, and aid to education.

Among other recommendations that stood out in the 3,500 word "state of the union" message the President delivered in person were:

Power to impose sweeping economic controls, including curbs on some wages and prices; authority to build steel plants and other factories if deemed necessary in view of shortages; repeal of the Taft-Hartley labor law; universal military training, aid to farmers and civil rights laws.

Thirty-seven different salvos of applause rang out in the packed house chamber where representatives and senators heard the speech. But all was not unanimity, by any means.

Southerners sat on their hands as he called for the civil rights program which tore the party last year. And the whole message brought a mixed reaction in statements issued later.

Some legislators hailed it as a "liberal" document with a "splendid appeal to the American people." Some denounced it as "socialistic" and a blow against individual liberties.

Mr. Truman, who saw his program extolled by the last Republican congress, put special emphasis on "co-operation" in promoting what he called a "dynamic economy."

Mr. and Mrs. James L. Coleman and Betsy Ann have returned home after spending the New Year's holiday in Corpus Christi.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Kunchick and daughter spent Sunday afternoon with Millie, Pete and Frank Borlea at their home at North Elm.

Officers Find 'Blind' Man Driving On Road

AUSTIN, Jan. 7—State Highway Patrolman Coley Platt arrested a motorist driving a car down the middle of the highway.

Then the driver admitted he was drawing a pension as a blind man.

Friends of Mrs. F. E. Sappington of Rockdale will regret to learn she is ill and a patient in Newton Memorial Hospital.

Mrs. R. C. Faulkner of Clarksville, Ark., is the guest of Miss Maggie Lou Aycock and Mrs. Emma Barron.

DON'T SAY FLOOR PAINT .... SAY FLOR-CEAL!

While offering a long list of improvements in the new 1949 Studebaker models, the company has continued the popular Raymond Loewy design and added new interior luxury. The famed Studebaker vision is especially notable in the Commander five-passenger Starlight coupe (shown) with its panoramic windows. Topping the list of chassis changes are refinements which provide stepped-up performance in both the Commander and Champion engines.

NEW STUDEBAKER CARS GREATLY IMPROVED

SOUTH BEND, Ind.—Highlighted by a new interior luxury embodying a strikingly modern treatment of upholstery, appointments and trim, Studebaker's 1949 passenger cars offer a long list of improvements.

The new models currently are being shown to dealers at a series of meetings throughout the country. They will be put on public display by dealers in coming weeks.

According to K. B. Elliott, vice president in charge of sales, Studebaker stylists have added to their postwar accomplishments by porducing an interior effect in keeping with design innovations representing the best in modern home decoration.

Elliott pointed out that this sharp departure from conventional design is intended to do it the field of interior styling something comparable, in its modern touch, to the new trend of low, wide, streamlined exteriors that have been so widely acclaimed since Studebaker introduced its revolutionary postwar contours.

The 1949 advancements include the use of new decorator fabrics and trim materials, as well as design. In some models seat backs and cushions are in different and beautifully harmonized patterns, set off by striking two-tone contrasts between the upholstery and the side-walls and headlining.

For example, one upholstery color combination comes in medium gray for the cushions, and in gray and light green stripes for seat backs. These blend with aqua side and head trim. Another combination offers alternating stripes in taupe tones and soft green. With this the color used for side-walls and headlining is taupe.

In Regal Deluxe models the modern touch has been further emphasized by the use of a new alligator leatherette for trimming doors and arm rests and for upholstery piping.

For Studebaker's luxurious Land Cruiser, the stylists have continued the unique long-wearing, soil-resisting nylon fabric, first used for automobile upholstery by Studebaker in 1948, but have adopted a new colorful pattern.

All convertibles have genuine leather cushions and seat backs, with leatherette side-trim.

Instrument panels and window reveals, as well as steering wheels, are colored to blend with the new upholstery.

Rubber foam cushions, standard on Commander series, are now available at extra cost on the Champion.

A wide variety of new exterior colors is available for 1949, ilncluding new metallic shades for the convertibles in both Champion and Commander models.

Topping the list of Studebaker chassis changes are refinements which provide a notable stepping up in performance in both the Commander and Champion engines. The stroke of the Commander engine has been increased from 4 3-8 to 4 3-4 inches, bringing the power output up to 100 brake horsepower at 3400 revolutions per minute as compared to the 94 horsepower at 3600 revolutions per minute obtained theretofore. The increase in Champion performance results from the adoption of a new carburetor and slight changes in the valve lift and the intake manifold.

Also in the case of Champion models, better cooling is provided by a larger radiator, the capacity of which has been increased 10 per cent to 11 quarts. Tire size in the series has been increased to 6.40x15.

The steering wheel on the Champion has been increased to 18 inches in diameter. The Commander Regal Deluxe closed models and convertibles as well as the Land Cruiser have a special deluxe three-spoke wheel. As in the past, the position of the steering wheel can be altered to suit the size of the driver by simply changing the mounting bracket.

Space available for luggage has been increased in all Studebaker models. This has been done by mounting the spare tire and wheel vertically. Six suit cases can be fitted into the trunk without difficulty, and the tire can be removed with little or no disturbance of luggage. Considerable extra space at the right of the tire is available for small packages.

Massive new wrap-around bumpers have been adopted for all 1949 Studebakers. They are heavier, larger than on previous models, and are completely redesigned. Additional frontal protection is provided by new high-type bumperettes, designed to prevent "overriding" in tight parking behind older model automobiles.

The attractive basic design of both Commander and Champion radiator grilles has been enhanced by new chrome accents, and refinements have also been made in the chrome finish of the interior trim. Clear plastic control knobs, set off with jet black inserts with white lettering, complement the chrome of the instrument panel fittings. Above the glove compartment new script lettering in chrome indicates the name of the model—Champion, Commander, or Land Cruiser.

Either front door may be unlocked from the outside with a key, even though the lock has been set by the handle from the inside. Windows can be raised and lowered with greater ease due to a change in gear mechanism. Built into the handle of the parking brake is a new pus-button release which eliminates any chance of the brake's being released accidentally.

Windshield wiper action is improved through the use of a more powerful vacuum motor. "Feather edge" blades have been adopted for the ultimate in wiping action.

Heat output in the Studebaker Climatizer heating and ventilating system has been increased by about 15 per cent as the result of a newly designed core housing. Flow of air through this underseat heating unit is redirected to pick up the maximum BPT output from the hot water heating core.

School Lunch Rooms Get Car Tomatoes

A car load of canned tomatoes for school lunch rooms for Milam and neighboring counties was received here last week and distribution was to be made Monday and Tuesday, it was reported by Chas. M. Hicks, county superintendent.

Under the school lunch plan car shipments are received at Cameron and distributed from this city.

Few of our errors are ever serious until we make the error of denying them.

City Primary Due In February—That Is

Under the Democratic Primary System an election is due in Cameron on the first Tuesday in February.

If the City Democratic Executive Committee fails to function as has been the case in the past, no primary will be called, unless candidates offer.

There is no thought of urging politics or anyone to run for office. This is published to keep the record straight. Cameron might as well abolish the Primary system if it cannot comply with the custom, if not the letter of the law.

As the Council is now constituted, three members of the Board of Aldermen, a majority, are elected in what is called off political years. Since no primary has been held in "Off Years" in a long time these members automatically succeed themselves for generally Democrats respect their regular elections. However, if there are no nominees the April ballot would be open.

In the case of an open ballot anyone could file and run for Council positions.

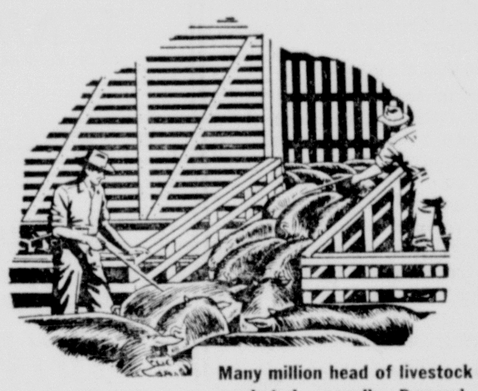
The people should insist on a complete Primary System or abolish it altogether. No very considerable loss would occur either way. A city primary in February would place an epitome on local somnolence and that might be helpful.

There can be no change in city policy or politics unless there are elections and candidates and even in that case the chances are we would get more of the same.

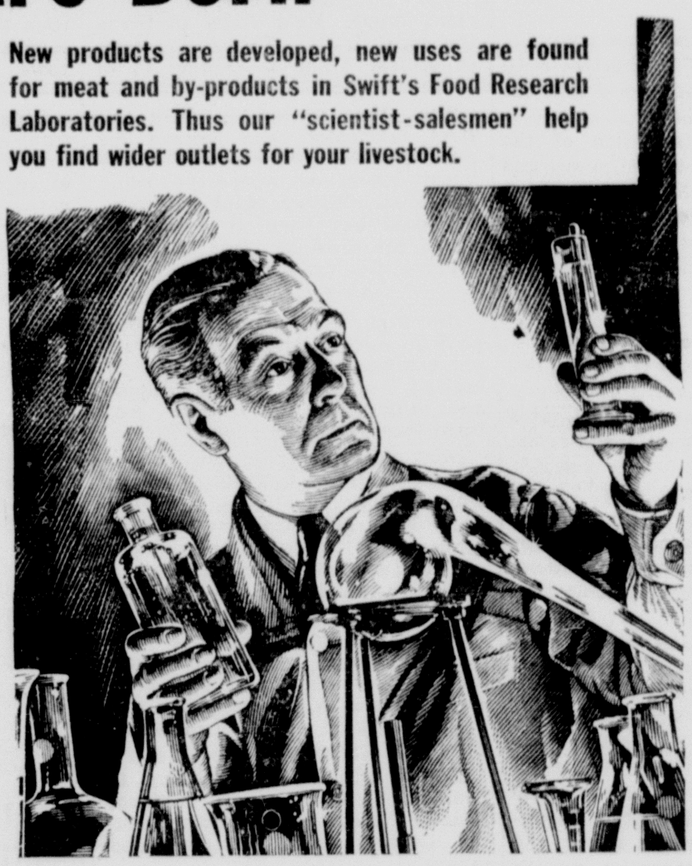
Friends will regret to know that L. C. Angell is ill at his home.

New Markets are Born in a Test Tube

New products are developed, new uses are found for meat and by-products in Swift's Food Research Laboratories. Thus our "scientist-salesmen" help you find wider outlets for your livestock.



Many million head of livestock are marketed annually. Demand for meat from these animals has been increased by Swift research.



From livestock country to city counter, science blazes the trail for a thriving livestock-meat industry. Among these trail-blazers are 400 trained personnel in the Swift research laboratories and test kitchens. Pioneer-scientists, they develop new meat products—find new uses for more and more livestock by-products. Scientist-salesmen, they create new markets—better values for your livestock.

Yes, their work means money to you . . . millions! The average annual commercial slaughter for the last ten years was over 28½ million cattle and calves, nearly 65 million hogs, and over 22 million sheep and lambs. That's a lot of meat—and it's a lot of by-products, too! Cowhides, pigskins, and sheepskins, by the millions, for everyday leather goods. Well over 50 million pounds of pulled wool annually for cloth and clothing. Thousands of tons of lards and soaps for home and industry. Carloads of animal feeds. Tons of hair for upholstery. The list is almost endless.

Research found how to derive life-saving pharmaceuticals from animal by-products. Here numbers are important. For example, tiny glands from many thousands of animals must be saved to produce one pound of adrenalin, powerful heart stimulant. To yield one pound of crystalline insulin, vital in the treatment of diabetes, the pancreatic glands of 20,000 cattle are needed. Important, too, is albumin, tuberculosis "detector" recovered from cattle blood—and many more beneficial, all-important medicinal products derived from animal slaughter.

Now recent research has developed an entirely new line of important chemicals from fatty acids. One chemical from fat makes clothing water-repellent. Another is a flotation agent, useful in the separation of phosphates for fertilizers. Another prolongs the life of synthetic tires by causing them to run cooler. And detergents, "soap substitutes," have been recovered for use with hard water in the home and industry. So the list grows, from day to day.

Yes, science performs a direct, very valuable business service for you, the livestock producer. Through new products and new markets, it 1) maintains or improves the position of meat on the American menu; 2) often reduces the price we get for the meat to less than we pay for the live animal; 3) enables the meat packer to pay you more for all your livestock.

Homemakers use more and more meat and livestock products, thanks to findings of Swift nutritionists.

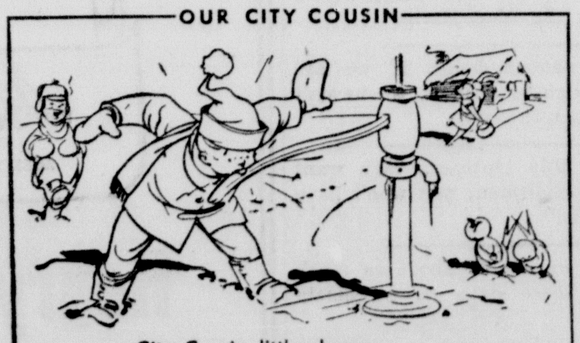
OUR CITY COUSIN



City Cousin, little chump—
Stuck his tongue on a frosty pump!

Business Must Serve

As you look about your own neighborhood you'll find some men who are assets to the community, others who add nothing to community life. These good citizens may be large operators or "little fellows." You do not rate them by the size of their operations but by their characters, abilities and what they contribute to the good of the community.

This same principle holds true in business. The business that performs worthwhile services to the community is an asset, whether it be a local concern or a big national organization.

In our livestock-meat industry both large and small meat packing plants are essential. Two-thirds of our country's livestock is raised and fed west of the Mississippi, where the great grainlands and grasslands are . . . Two-thirds of the meat is eaten east of the Mississippi, where most of the people live. Large packers are needed to handle the processing and distribution of meat for a nation of 145,000,000 people.

Swift & Company has grown with the expansion of the United States in the past 65 years. That's because we perform services of value to the people of America—to farmers, ranchers, meat dealers, and consumers of meats. We have to be efficient to provide these services. Meat packers have applied to meat products the economies of mass-production and mass-marketing. We have developed one of the lowest cost food distributing systems in the nation. By saving by-products and by reducing waste, we increase the value of producers' livestock.

But so keen is the competition—in both the buying and selling ends of our business—that these services have averaged us, over the years, earnings of only a fraction of a cent per pound of meat.

To all of our friends on the farms and ranches of America, we of Swift send our sincere best wishes for a happy, peaceful and prosperous New Year.

John Holmes

President, Swift & Company

QUOTES OF THE MONTH

Animals have done more to make America great than any other one thing. Directly and indirectly, animals account for about 80 per cent of the jobs in the food industry, and the food industry accounts for about 55 per cent of the total employment in this country. Chicago Daily Drovers Journal

Crossbred or Fine-Wool?

by A. C. Esplin
Utah State Agricultural College, Logan, Utah

A. C. Esplin

Crossbreeding in Western Range herds has long been a discussion point among operators. The advantages of the crossbred over fine-wool are:

1) Crossbred ewes are better mothers; 2) they are more prolific breeders; 3) they produce lighter shrinkage wool; 4) they produce high percentage combing wool; 5) they produce better mutton lambs; 6) they are better rustlers on the range; and 7) they are larger sheep.

The disadvantages reported for crossbred ewes are: 1) they are shorter lived than fine-wool ewes; 2) they lose wool on brush and do not hold fleece when past 3 years of age; 3) crossbred ewe lambs must be sold as feeders and ewes bought for replacement; 4) they are more difficult to herd than fine-wool ewes; 5) they are not as hardy as fine-wool ewes; 6) it is impossible to maintain standards of breeding and uniform wool grades with crossbred ewes; 7) annual death losses are more than with fine-wool ewes.

This, as a whole, expresses the range operator's thinking on problems of breeds of sheep and breeding operations. Length of life, density and quality of fleece, uniformity of herd, and herding instincts are considered by the largest number of operators.

UN—

never should issue a directive until it first has been determined that the directive will be obeyed.

But with this indication of the state of feeling about the power and influence of the UN goes the argument that even when it cannot, by means of its directives, settle such issues, it still remains an enormously valuable agency.

Vital Meeting Place Provided

Its principal value, it is argued, lies in the simple fact that it provides a meeting place where the delegates of the nations not only can, but do, transact a good deal of valuable business behind the scenes. Understandings of other people's problems are sharpened. Personal friendships are made which cross many frontiers, and on occasion even penetrate the iron curtain.

How much longer UN continues depends, of course, on whether East-West relations continue to deteriorate or remain no worse than they are now. That fact proves what has always been said of the UN from the beginning—that it never can be any stronger than the degree of understanding which exists among the great powers. Those great powers still are much stronger than the UN.

But at this stage it can be said that the prestige of the UN has sunk so low that the condition is a matter of growing concern among some of those who are responsible for its decline.

Belton Motorist Is Slugged and Robbed By 2 Hitchhikers

BELTON, Jan. 9—J. W. Ratliff of Belton was knocked unconscious and robbed of $11 near City of Lometa in Lampasas County Sunday by two hitchhikers he had picked up near here, the Bell County Sheriff's department was told, Ratliff said he had intended to drive only to Nolanville, about 20 miles from here, but that he was forced at gunpoint to continue driving West until he ran out of gas.

Deputy Sheriff Charlie Hayes said Ratliff was unconscious about an hour and a half, but was not seriously hurt. After regaining consciousness, he got gasoline for his car and returned to Belton.

Both hitchhikers were young, Ratliff said. He estimated their ages at 22. Both were wearing Army uniforms with air force shoulder patches, he said.

Manufacturers Protest Against Court Ruling

WASHINGTON. — Loud hollers over the supreme court's price ruling are coming from steel users and building material dealers.

Congressional mail is increasingly filled with protests from small town manufacturers. They want to know, bitterly, if congress is going to let the supreme court put them out of business.

The supreme court decided in the "cement case" that uniform prices could not be used to maintain a combine among cement producers. And the steel industry, reading the ruling, shifted away from its traditional policy of maintaining uniform prices among themselves.

But it's their customers, who had based their businesses on the previous uniform-price policies, who are hollering now.

A Muskegon, Mich., building materials dealer puts a typical problem frankly. He buys cement from a concern at Detroit, 170 miles away. His competitor buys from a cement concern near Muskegon. A third dealer buys from a concern near Petoskey, which is not far away.

Prices Were Uniform.

Always before the cement companies had supplied the three dealers at a uniform price. But now the dealer buying from Detroit has to pay 52 cents a barrel more; the dealer buying at Petoskey has to pay six cents more, and the dealer buying from the local source pays only one cent more.

The Muskegon customer of the Detroit supplier says he'll be out of business pretty soon, unless he can shift to the local supplier, who already can sell his entire product and isn't looking for new customers.

The building materials dealer can't move. He's there to serve the local trade. That's one type of protest which is coming in to congress by the hundreds.

The other protest is from the steel fabricator who located his plant near his market, or where he found labor, or where he could utilize an existing plant. Because he could buy steel at a uniform price, his distance from the steel supplier didn't matter then.

An Emergency.

But now a spring-making company in Adrian, Mich., a seat-making company in Ionia, a company making casters in Grand Rapids and dozens of enterprises like them face an emergency.

How can they pay the cost of bringing in steel and still compete with that spring-making company at Pittsburgh that seat-building concern at Youngstown or the caster manufacturer at Gary?

"Many Michigan plants, among which we may be included, will be compelled to move to some steel producing center where excess steel capacity is available in order to eliminate excess transportation costs," one of these men wrote Senator Ferguson.

Similar protests are coming to Senator Capehart from Indiana, Senator Brooks from Illinois, Senator Donnell from Missouri and others.

These manufacturers, some of them, can move. And of course if they do there will be unemployment in the cities they leave and a scramble for labor in the cities they enter.

It's a serious problem.

Texas Gophers Cause Damage Of $5,000,000

DALLAS, Tex.—One of the greatest undermining influences in Texas is a biscuit-bodied, Roman-nosed rodent called the pocket gopher.

This burrowing little fellow did at least five million dollars worth of crop damage in Texas in a recent 12-month period, according to Donald A. Spencer, government biologist, who has trapped thousands of gophers.

Besides destroying crops, these underground mischief-makers dig holes in levees, undermine hard-surface roads and even cause train wrecks by tunneling beneath right-of-ways.

Spencer, speaking at a Dallas forum on rodent poisoning, called the gopher the most hermit-like and foul-tempered of all western creatures. A gopher stays strictly to himself all his life except for a few weeks when he is young and except during the brief breeding seasons.

Individual Tunnels.

Every adult gopher has his individual underground system of tunnels, storehouses (Spencer calls them pantries) and sleeping dens. The female gopher is always alone in her den when the little ones arrive. Usually, these tunnel systems are under a row crop, a lawn, a golf course or any place where there are succulent roots. The roots and other foodstuffs are gnawed into neat little strips and stored in the pantries for use when little is growing or there is a drouth. A gopher never drinks water. He gets enough moisture from the water content of the food he eats.

Besides his powerful claws, the gopher has huge incisor teeth for digging. The mouth closes behind these incisors. The pocket gopher gets his name from cheek pouches on either side of his mouth. He uses these cheek pouches to carry food and to haul dirt out of the burrows.

Many Different Types.

Spencer said that Texas Agricultural and Mechanical college investigators had found 18 types of pocket gophers in that state. A Dallas gopher is about the size of a house rat, only blunter of head, shorter of tail and much chunkier.

A gopher fits in his tunnel like a piston in a cylinder, Spencer declared. He can back up as fast as he can go forward. He's not polite, though, and when angry will attack any foe and fight to the death. Gophers won't live together in captivity. A few minutes after being caged they usually have a death struggle.

Spencer usually locates them by the mounds of fresh dirt which they throw out through a small hole while digging their tunnels. Then the biologist sticks a poisoned bait down the hole. After one gopher is killed, though, another seems to take over the tunnel system immediately.

About the only real service the pocket gopher performs is in improving sub-soil by dragging organic matter underground.

Ideal Hatchery & Poultry Farm Gets New 1949 Catalog

The new 1949 catalog of the Ideal Hatchery & Poultry Farm is off the press, this time a locally produced printing job.

The catalog was produced by The Herald press in two colors. Leo Fuchs had set his organization to mailing 5500 copies of the catalog and will have a surplus of 500 for 6000 were produced.

The catalog is a 12 page book, highly illustrated and well edited by Mr. Fuchs. With the catalogs will go 5500 letters in two colors.

Ideal Hatchery & Poultry Farm is celebrated for its famous breeds of chickens, notably the White Leghorns and annually many thousands are sold all over the country. The work of the hatchery and farm here has produced one of the finest poultry breeding foundations in the United States.

Every scientific method known to the business is employed by the Hatchery and the result has been champion egg producing hens in Texas for two years straight, 1946 and 1947. The cover page of the catalog features "Lady Milam" famous White Leghorn hen with an eight year average of 186 eggs.

Henry R. Tomasek, War Veteran, Realizes Life Ambition To Own His Own Farm In Milam County; Aided By FHA Financing Plan

While fighting in the "Battle of the Bulge" near the Rhine river in Germany, Henry R. Tomasek of Route 1, Cameron often thought of home and family and wanted above everything else to come back home and make a career of farming. He wasn't quite sure whether he would be able to own a farm of his own, but he knew he would try.

On December 24, 1948 Mr. Tomasek realized his ambition to own a farm. With the help of the Farmers Home Administration he purchased the 120 acre farm on which he had been living. Mr. Tomasek is married and has two small boys. The whole family is happy to own their farm and have the help of FHA to place a good farm program in operation. They have already started improving it. About 2 acres of wooded area has been cleared by Mr. Tomasek and another acre to be cleared which area he will use as a hog pasture. His plans are to build a new poultry house large enough to house 200 laying hens. All other buildings are to be repaired and painted. He also plans to terrace the whole farm, which has 85 acres in cultivation.

Mr. Tomasek is a native of Milam County and has worked on a farm all of his life. He served with the 300th Ordnance Maintenance Company and was over seas for 16 months, taking part in the Northern France, Ardennes Rhineland and Central Europe battles. He was awarded the American Campaign Medal and EAME Campaign Medal with 4 Bronze Stars.

Roy M. Wright, County FHA Supervisor, said that FHA farm purchase loans are made to eligible applicants and they have 40 years to repay the loans, 35 FHA farm purchase loans have been made in the County since 1939 and 9 of these have repaid their loans in full with many others far ahead on their payments. Some 75 operating farm loans are also made each year in the County, which loans are used for general operating expenses. All loans are made to applicants who cannot obtain the needed financial and farm management assistance from local institutions.

Human Fly To Scale Court House Here At 4 p. m. Thursday

J. J. Wood, who terms himself a "human fly" announces today that he will scale the court house in Cameron Thursday at 4 o'clock this week.

"I have received permission from Sheriff Carl Black," he says, "and will scale it, on the west side from side walk up."

For thirty-five years. Mr. Woods has been climbing buildings, which he has done through out the nation a number of buildings in Dallas. Asked if he ever got a fall he said "Just one and that was from 28 feet, off a building in Los Angeles, California." He exhibited a scar on his scalp. Another on a shin, one on his upper lip and another on a finger which he said were results of this fall. "It happened", he explained, "when a brick I was depending upon to hold me turned out to be loose and gave way." If the weather is rainy the climb will be postponed.

CAMERON HAS LOW OF ONLY 32 TUESDAY

Cameron was still waiting for cold weather.

Believe it or not temperatures were lower in Rosebud and Buckholts than in Cameron.

Cameron had a mere 32 degrees early Tuesday morning and there was little ice.

Weather was severe over other sections of the state and a new norther was on the way. Since the Sunday spell had quite a build-up and then came in as a fluke. folks will have to be shown. Of course it has been cold here and may get so again.

L. W. Smith of the Community Public Service Company said that Cameron had .5 inches of rain.

Highway travel in north and west Texas was all but stopped Monday night as the current bitter norther glazed highways with ice, snow and sleet. The norther already has taken at least two lives.

The worst was yet to come. The weather bureau predicted that temperatures would be much lower Tuesday except in the Panhandle. There they will stay near zero.

Highway patrolmen told motorists to stay off the highways. Officers at the Lubbock patrol station said "anyone is crazy to get on the roads now."

"We'll have bad weather at least until the middle of the week," weather forecasters said.

At 6:30 p. m., the weather bureau reported snow, sleet and freezing rain at Amarillo, Clarendon, Wichita Falls, Guadalupe Pass, Big Spring, Abilene, Midland and Dallas.

Reporting those conditions earlier Monday were Plainview, Childress, Lubbock, Odessa, Vernon, Clarendon and Pampa.

The cold front by 6:30 was south of San Antonio and Bryan. Forecasters said the norther was due to lose much of its punch by the time it reaches the Rio Grande valley citrus orchards and vegetable fields.

Forecast for west Texas was for occasional snow in the Panhandle and south plains and freezing rain elsewhere Monday night and Tuesday. Minimums of three to 10 degrees above zero were due in the Panhandle and south plains, with 12-28 elsewhere.

Freezing rain was predicted for north and west central east Texas and rain elsewhere Monday night and Tuesday. Minimums in north and west central are expected to be 15-28 Tuesday morning, except in the Red river valley, where the mercury will dip to 10-14. In the east central portion, 25-23 readings are expected.

Robert Boyce froze to death in Borger Sunday. Fred T. Stricklin, 30, of Lubbock was killed early Monday when his car skidded and overturned on icy pavement near Lubbock.

ROGER MADDOX NAMED PERMANENT CHAIRMAN

Milam county's share in the March of Dimes Campaign will be subscribed in a drive to begin on January 17 to continue through February it was determined by directors in a meeting held late Monday in the offices of the Community Public Service Company.

Roger Maddox, manager of the J. C. Penny Company store in Cameron is chairman for Milam County.

L. W. Smith of the Community Public Service Company will be permanent chairman for the foundation.

Henry Siebman of the Texas Power & Light Company will direct publicity for the drive.

J. R. Hays resigned as county chairman. In his report he disclosed that funds are now exhausted and since conditions are so crowded at the Crippled Children Hospital in Waco it may be necessary to make other arrangements and it appears that more funds will be needed than heretofore collected.

Milam county reported 18 cases of Infantile paralysis in 1948 and two fatalities resulted. The fund paid out $1800.00 and it was necessary recently to borrow $430.00 from the national foundation. An immediate expendire of $175.00 for braces will be necessary.

Opportunity will be given for all to contribute through work of Mr. Smith who will place containers for dimes and cards will be distributed at schools. Business houses will receive scrolls on which names of contributors will be inscribed.

The importance of raising funds cannot be overestimated.

L. C. Angell who is now employed with Lead Products in Houston spent the week end in Cameron with his wife and other relatives.

Eighteen prospective soldiers for the army will leave for Austin on Monday, January 10 for physical examinations, it was reported at the local draft offices Friday.

Under the present system of selecting men for the armed services men report for physical examinations and then return to their homes and when the draft call comes they are selected in the order of their numbers based on the need for men.

New hours at the draft board have been announced by F. G. Blake, Chairman, as follows: The offices formerly open from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m., will open at 9 a. m. and close at 4 p. m.

Compressors are the heart of your natural gas service. Their beat sustains the movement of natural gas to your home. Their cost . . . the cost of labor to install them . . . in fact, the cost of virtually everything behind Lone Star Natural Gas Service has skyrocketed.

Despite rapidly rising costs, Lone Star Natural Gas Service rates for homes, reduced in 1942, continue in effect today.

As a result, you enjoy natural gas service in your home today for less than prewar price. It's a lower price than in the days you bought two pounds of coffee for a quarter.

ARMS AGAINST SOVIET RUSSIA IN EUROPE

President Truman asked the new Democratic Congress to-day for $41,900,000,000 based upon what he said would be the minimum need for the next fiscal period in government financing.

The largest item in the budget was some 15 millions for military supplies and army, navy and airforce building.

The President indicated that he would favor arms to Great Britain and other European countries for resistance of the Red menace, although a vague interpretation of the policy he will follow in checking Russian aggression.

The Marshall plan for recovery of European countries would take more than 4 billion dollars.

It was estimated that the budget would cost the average American family $282 in the fiscal year ahead. Mr. Truman has asked for 4 billions in new taxes.

WAR WITH ISRAEL IS A DEFINITE THREAT

LONDON, Jan. 9—Great Britain concentrated warships at Malta today and cancelled Navy shore leaves at that Mediterranean bastion because of the shooting down of five Royal Air Force planes by Israel.

The Palestine crisis was intensified when Israel summarily rejected a British protest over the incident and decided to ask the United Nations to recognize Britain as a belligerent in the Holy Land war.

Israel bluntly refused to accept the British note because it was addressed to "Jewish authorities" and not to the provisional government of Israel. At a three hour meeting the Israeli cabinet also voted to instruct its United Nations Representative Aubrey Eban to inform the Security Council at Lake Success, N. Y., of alleged British intervention in the Negev fighting.

Advices here, and dispatches from Tel Aviv, indicated that the United States would almost certainly be brought directly into the situation by representations or other communications made to it by both parties.

It was intimated here that Sir Oliver Franks, British Ambassador in Washington, will take up the matter with the State Department tomorrow. Tel Aviv dispatches said it was indicated the Israeli government would send an informative report to Washington as well as to the United Nations.

Meanwhile, two Royal Navy frigates sailed from Malta for Cyprus, near the Palestine coast. A brigade of Marine Commandos was alerted at Malta for shipment to an undisclosed Briitsh base in the Middle East.

An Admiralty spokesman said the aircraft carrier Triumph and the cruiser Phoebe, which have been cruising in the Mediterranean, have been recalled to Malta to join other British warships concentrated there. A dispatch from the Central Mediterranean island said shore leave for all British sailors was canceled last night.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Butlery of Hauman, Louisiana visited Mrs. Lula Harwell and other relatives here during the holidays.

Friends will regret to learn Mrs. Mary McGoldrick is ill and a patient in Newton Memorial Hospital.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

We Both Won This One

Blew my top the other morning when I discovered a shirt I'd put on had two buttons missing.

"Joe," the missus says, "do you ever read what you write? For a man who writes newspaper pieces all about tolerance, you sometimes show a lot of race prejudice."

"Race prejudice!" I hollers. "No one can accuse me of that." "I mean prejudice against the entire human race," she interrupts with a smile. "Why get mad at the world over two little buttons?" That took the wind out of me.

From where I sit (as I told the missus that evening), a lot of us sometimes get too worked up over little things . . . little differences of opinion or taste. One person prefers beer or ale, another prefers cider or lemonade. But why criticize the other fellow just because his tastes aren't the same as ours? "That sounds more like you, Joe," she laughs, snipping off a thread. (It so happens she was sewing on buttons.)

BUSINESS IS REASSURED BY PRESIDENT TRUMAN

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7—President Truman today forecast new job and production records in 1949.

He acclaimed the halt of the long price rise as the welcome signal of an approaching "stable" prosperity, not of an oncoming depression.

His annual economic report told Congress that the "Fair Deal" program he laid before it Wednesday is a two-edged weapon of Government—that it is "antidepression" as well as anti-inflation.

Mr. Truman fixed these national goals for the year: Another million-man increase in employment, to a yearly average of 60,000,000 civilians at work; and another 3 to 4 per cent boost in production.

Production last year was reported, in the dollar value of all goods and services poured out, at the historic high of $252,700,000,000. But the gain which Mr. Truman wants is in terms of actual goods and services, with the dollar inflation squeezed out.

The President's report showed that personal income in 1948 was $211,000,000. He said consumer income rose about in proportion to the climb in consumer prices.

But he declared that profits are swollen to "excess" and that "dangerous inflationary forces" still imperil the economy. He made an 8-point request for control legislation to the Democratic Congress in a report that went first to the House.

His proposed $4,000,000,000 tax increase, to be drawn mainly from corporation earnings, can be applied 'without unduly interfering with prospects for continued business expansion," Mr. Truman said.

The report was notably more conciliatory toward business than the State of the Union message which, 48 hours earlier, stressed the inflationary hazard and failed to mention the price declines of recent months. Today's message had this reassurance:

1. "It is possible that we may not in fact, be forced to use such controls" as the standby price, wage and allocation powers he wants on the law books.

2. The tax policy "should be flexible and should be promptly adjusted to the changing needs of business and consumers"—an implied promise to lower rates again if a recession hits.

3. Price ceilings, if they are invoked on key materials, will be selective and not the "general over-all price control of war-time variety." Any legislation should encourage voluntary price cuts before ceilings are clamped on.

4. Private enterprise is the nation's prime reliance "for economic results," aided by a "vigorous Government and the mutual respect and trust that we all hold for one another.

The President demanded rent control extension "for at least two years." Today's legislative recommendations followed in the main his Wednesday program, with this additional proposal:

Some new excise taxes "may be desirable," along with the rise in corporation, gift and estate levies and the possible boosts in middle and upper bracket income taxes. But the oleomargine tax and some others "should be repealed."

Mr. Truman also asked extension of the law under which steel and other scarce materials are allocated to vital industries by voluntary industry agreement—a point he failed to make in Wednesday's request.

Falls County Finds Unit System Pays; Finances Improved

The new Commissioners Court of Falls county will have its first official meeting after having been sworn in, on next Monday. The court is composed of W. H. King of Rosebud, Cy Clark of Lott, Sanford Hancock of Marlin and Lloyd Harlan of Reagan. The court is presided over by county judge Fred B. Glass. This will be the first court that has begun its operations under the county unit system.

Last year was the first year that Falls county has had the unit system in opertaion at all. The court was divided on the question, even as it is now, nevertheless the road and bridge fund is $60,000 better off today than it was two years ago. It is still in the red and will be for some years yet, unless the county refinances its road operations via the bond issue route. (The business-like thing to do.)

Two years ago Falls county warrants were selling at about 30 percent off face value. Today, after the re-allocation election plus the savings that have been effected through the operation of the unit system, Falls county warrants are selling readily at 10 and 12 percent off list or face value. When the county gets its business in better shape—that is, when it can pay cash, it can accomplish more for its citizens. Its citizens ought to give it this opportunity and it may be that they will. The record of the past year is certainly a recommendation.

The Commissioners Court of Falls county set a budget of $80,000 for the past year. At the year's end, they had spent $76,000—a saving of some $4,000 on the estimated expenditures. This is wonderful. It can be done again too.—Rosebud News.

RAIN AND SNOW MAY BE ON WAY TO TEXAS

(From the Daily)

The weather picture has changed since Friday and now it seems we are to have a new cold wave.

A severe blizzard was in the lower Colorado Saturday morning and by nightfall would be in the Texas Panhandle and Oklahoma if the front keeps up its present rate of travel.

The cold front originated at the Canadian border and had laid a blanket of snow with below zero temperatures in the Dakotas and Montana.

Unlike the last front this one could the front reaches the Cameron area bring rain and may do so. Snow was forecast for the northern plains. If it wold arrive sometime Sunday.

The season low here was 25 degrees and it appeared that the winter might go down in history as one of the mildest.

Skies over the state will be cloudy Saturday and Sunday. No rain is likely to fall unless the low pressure areas north and west have drawn in sufficient moisture and even at that a number of factors are involved.

Texas rainfall in 1948 was 50 per cent below normal.

5 ENLISTMENTS FOR GUARD UNIT HERE

Five more enlistments have been made in Battery C, 239th Field Artillery Battalion recently, Captain Rudolph Michalka announced this week when reporting an increased interest in the local National Guard unit.

Two of the men were enlisted during the battery's last drill period before the holidays, he said. They are: Joe M. Hundl, Jr., a student residing near Minerva, and William S. (Shirley) McLean, a veteran and clerk. Beginning with the first of the year McLean also has been employed by Battery C on a full time basis as Administrative Assistant.

The enlistment papers of three other men are being completed, and they will be sworn in during the next few days.

Capt. Michalka also announced that $678.93 in checks was distributed to members of the unit for its most recent pay period which occured during the holidays.

Of His Death Untrue Jack Dockery Very Much Alive; Report

Jack Dockery, former resident here, is very much alive.

Like Mark Twain once said "his death is greatly exaggerated."

The Herald Publisher received a letter Thursday morning from Mr. Dockery in Houston stating that he is very much alive and healthy and has a fine job in that city.

It seems that a newspaper story telling of the death of antoher man by the name of Dockery was confused with Jack Dockery and the rumor of his death was untrue. Mr. Dockery says:

"Will you please print an item in the Midget telling the people of Cameron that I was not killed during the holidays. I am very well and healthy and have a fine job in Houston."

The false report was widely circuloted here and many inquiries have been made. Friends will be glad to know that Mr. Dockery is alive and doing well.

TRUMAN MESSAGE IS BUILDING CONFIDENCE

(From the Daily)

NEW YORK, Jan. 5— The stock market signaled with an advance today business may have overplayed its fears of President Truman's program.

Prices of most stocks rose a few cents to more than $1 a share after the State of the Union message was read to Congress.

Leaders of business, industry and finance scanned closely the President's words and found nothing more than had been widely predicted.

As a result: Few if any of business' plans for the next year or two are likely to be changed appreciably.

Those who had feared the worst found some conciliatory phrases.

There was some comfort for them in his ommission of mention of an excess profits tax, in his call for authority to limit "unjustified wage adjustments," in his failure to go beyond the program outlined in his re-election campaimn.

This program—Taft-Hartley Act repeal, powers to control prices, allocate key materials, tighten bank credit, strengthen rent controls toughen anti-trust laws and erect 1,000,000 public housing units in seven years—had been well advertised and taken into account (since November) by business generally.

Widely expected had been the President's call for higher corporate's call for higher corporate taxes, for boosts in middle and upper bracket income taxes.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Shelburne of Perry and Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Shelburne of Marlin visited Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Kitzler and daughter, Emma, here last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Gunn had as New Years guests here borthers and wives; Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Bownds of Taylor and Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Bownds of Rockdale.

John B. Dodson of San Marcos who has been visiting relatives in Cameron will spend the week end in Fort Worth before returning to his duties next week.

Why Bell a Buzzard? Can You Answer This One? Write To Us

The Herald receives many letters, nearly all of them appreciated. Here is an unusual one and so we pass it along to our readers, hoping that someone will answer this question. Why does anyone bell a turkey buzzard?

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Duncan of Wills Point, Texas, writes as follows:

"Why does anyone bell a turkey buzzard? My nine year old son was out playing New Year's day when he heard a bell ringing. He lookel all around, not finding the bell, he looked up and a buzzard was flying over the house. We wondered if you knew of anyone who had put a bell on a buzzard. Would just like to know when, where and why.

Yours truly,
Mr. and Mrs. Roy Duncan,
Route 1, Wills Point, Texas.

All buzzards have two legs and some of them fly. The Raptores is a family of birds of prey. They are stupid and sometimes when we refer to so and so as an "old buzzard" we actually mean they are dumb. But that won't get us anywhere on this question of why bell a buzzard. To start off let's look at it this way. In other days the buzzard was considered beneficial and it was protected. In late years the buzzard has become a spreader of disease. They are feared in live stock areas and since animals are no longer left to be devoured by the buzzard the bird is a menace. Now, if you put a bell on a buzzard he frightens others of his flock. In that way the claim is made that Buzzards quit the area and the bell buzzard finds himself a social outcast.

Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Posival Sr. of Liberty had the following guests for the holidays, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Posival Jr. and daughter Patsy, Mr and Mrs. Calvin Bethony and daughter Yvonne, Miss Genevie Posival, Oscar Oliver all of Dallas and Tommy Lee Swift of Liberty.

Mr. and Hrs. Emil Horelica and children spent Sunday evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bodisky and sons and the John Spicak home.

BELTON DAM SITE TO SEE ACTIVITY SOON

Actual construction of a $525,000 building to house the new REA steam-electric generating plant on the Leon river near Belton will start next week, if cement deliveries come through on schedule, officials of the E. E. Farrow Construction Co. of Dallas, said Wednesday.

Excavation for the building's foundation has started, and water and sewer lines are being installed.

About 15 men are now working on the job, but the working force will later range from 75 to 150, the company said. Construction machinery is arriving at the site—on the bank of the river some 300 yards south of the Highway 81 bridge—daily.

President E. E. Farrow of the construction company, who plans to maintain residence at Belton during the contract period, said he plans to use local labor almost exclusively on the job. C. E. Southwell, construction superintendent, and Robert Mauldin, asistant superintendent, will also live at Belton.

Ground-breaking ceremonies for the plant are planned in the near future, but no details have been announced.

The building will house generating equipment, to be installed under a separate contract, not yet awarded, and the plant when completed will tie into the Brazos River Electric Transmission cooperative lines, as both a booster unit and a primary generating plant.—Temple Telegram.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Miller and son, Joey of Houston spent a few days this week with his mother, Mrs. Effie Miller and other relatives and friends in Cameron.

Mrs. J. B. Carmichael of Ben Arnold transacted business in Cameron this week.

Red Skelton Comes To Cameron Screen In "Southern Yankee"

Red Skelton, who last gave you his version of the Fuller Brush Man, now shows you what he can do with a Civil War spy! This new Skelton metamorphosis takes place on the Cameron screen Thursday in M-G-Ms howling comedy, "A Southern Yankee," and if you don't think a Civil War patriot can be both a Southerner and a Yankee you haven't seen Audrey Filmore, as portrayed by Skelton in an aisle-rolling plot of slapstick merriment.

Aubrey starts his spying for the Union's Secret Service in a strictly amateur status. He is a bellhop in a St. Louis hotel and his first coup is to mistake an innocent doctor and his satchel for the infamous Confederate spy, the Gray Spider, and his suitcase of explosives. This masterstroke of stratagem does not endear him to the North's Secret Service authorities and it is up to Aubrey to redeem himself. In a uniform one-half of which is Union, the other half Confederate, Aubrey braves the enemy lnies, wins the love of an unsuspecting Southern girl, places false information in the hands of a Conederate general, and executes deeds of preposterous daring until he is finally uncovered and forced to flee both Southern bloodhounds and feminine wiles.

In the hands of the ribbing and riotous Skelton, Aubrey is a spy whom neither side of a war would possibly want, but whom all lovers of a hearty laugh will award a special Croix de Guerre. It is Skelton at his very funniest. Brian Donlevy is also in good form as the nemesis who traps Aubrey into revealing his true identity, and the romantic touches are supplied by attractive Arlene Dahl, a recent addition to M-G-M's feminine roster and a performer who shows herself to have a head start on future stardom.

MILAM COUNTY REPORT IS MADE TO SIEBMAN

The people of Milam County bought $300,343.50 worth of U. S. Savings Bonds during 1948, according to a year-end report by Harry Owens of Dallas, state director for Savings Bonds, to Henry Siebman, County Savings Bonds chairman. During the same period, the people of Texas bought $196,448,587,50 worth of these securities.

Mr. Owens said that Texans now own more than $1.5 billion worth of Savings Bonds which earned $42,372,000 in interest during the year.

To illustrate the practical aspects of thrift, as represented by the Savings Bonds program, Mr. Owens pointed out that the annual interest from bonds held by Texans, if converted into residential construction, would build 4237 homes costing $10,000 each, or, if considered in terms of higher education or wages and salaries, would give a four-year college education to 14,124 students at the rate of $750 per year, or provide an income of $225 per month for a full year for 15,693 persons.

Mr. Owens said that of the state's total bond sales last year, Series E, the "people's bond," accounted for $139,591,216.25, or 71 per cent.

"There are more Savings Bonds in the hands of the people today than ever before," he said. "Almost 70 per cent of all bonds ever issued are still in the possession of their original owners. The sale of Series E bonds in Texas alone during 1948 was $4,940,447.50 more than for 1947."

New Class Schedule For Aviation Cadets

The United States Air Force will initiate a new eight class per year schedule for Aviation Cadets, according to M-Sgt. Samuel L. Frazier. The new program, which will become effective April 4th, sets up classes at six week intervals instead of every four months as under the old program.

In order to make this change-over, the scheduled March 1st class has been cancelled, and men who were to report for it are being notified of their assignment to April 4th and May 17th classes.

In many cases, this new policy will be of benefit to men who desire to enter cadet training at a specific time of the year. Sgt. Frazier stated, however, that men who want to receive the full benefit of the plan should apply as soon as possible in order that their names can be placed on the eligible list for the class they wish to attend.
